MEET DR. LEN TAU

Real dentist. Real stories. Real solutions.

Dr. Len Tau, or Len, as he prefers to be called, practiced dentistry for more than two decades. He knows what it takes to fill a schedule, lead a team, and earn patient trust, because he did it himself.

Dentistry runs in his family. His father ran a dental office in New City, New York. Len earned his undergraduate degree at Tulane University and his DMD from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in 1999. He completed his Advanced Education in General Dentistry residency at UMDNJ.

Len owned the Pennsylvania Center for Dental Excellence outside Philadelphia. He sold the practice in 2021 and retired from clinical care in 2022. By then, his patients had left more than 2,000 five-star reviews.

He saw early that online reviews would change how patients choose a dentist. He built iSocial Reviews, which Birdeye acquired. Today he leads the dental division at Birdeye and runs Tau Dental Consulting. Dentists across the country know him as The Reviews Doctor.

Len hosts the Raving Patients Podcast, now in its eighth season. Listeners voted it the 2025 Fan Favorite Dental Podcast. He shares practice growth content with more than 50,000 followers on Instagram. In 2026, USA Dental Report named him one of the 100 key opinion leaders in dentistry. He has written three books and founded Supercharge, an annual conference for practice owners and their teams. He lives in Parkland, Florida.

THE PLATFORM

Every program Len teaches serves one goal. He helps you build a more profitable practice. It starts with Be Seen, Be Trusted, Be Chosen. Patients must find you, trust you, and choose you. Then you turn that growth into more production, higher profits, and a practice you can scale. Len's platform is business and marketing. He teaches you to run your practice like a business that grows.

"Education without action is just entertainment."

Len expects you to act. You leave every program with steps to put to work the next business day.

PRESENTATION TOPIC

Be Seen, Be Trusted, Be Chosen

Mastering Online Visibility for Practice Growth

Your online reputation drives practice growth. Patients search before they call. What they find decides whether they book with you or with another practice.

When someone hears your name, they look you up. If they don't find recent, positive reviews, they move on. If you're not on page one or in the Google Map Pack, they won't find you at all.

Here's what most dentists miss. Reviews alone won't get you to the top. Google rewards practices that have both credibility and visibility. Reviews are one ranking factor among several. You learn how those factors work together, how Google evaluates your practice, and which changes you can make right away to rank higher.

Every practice gets negative reviews. What matters is how you respond. Len shows you what to say, what never to say, how to calm an upset patient, and how to use a bad review to build trust.

FORMAT

1 hour 2 hours 3 hours

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Own your reputation. Take control of how your practice appears online.
2. Simplify review management. Use proven tools to collect and respond to reviews.
3. Understand real ranking factors. Learn why reviews alone don't raise rankings, and what does.
4. Win the Google Map Pack. Learn the steps to reach the top of local results.
5. Handle negative reviews. Know what to say, what not to say, and how to turn criticism into credibility.
6. Build review systems. Create a steady flow of high-quality patient feedback.
7. Train your team. Give your staff the scripts and tools to ask for and manage reviews.

> "Without the help of Len, I would not have the amount of new patients coming to my practice, the over 500 five-star Google reviews, and tons of Facebook five-star reviews!"

PRESENTATION TOPIC

03 The Connected Practice

How Reviews, Search, AI, and Experience Work Together to Grow Your Practice

Most dental practices don't have a marketing problem. They have a disconnected system problem.

Your website comes from one company. Your reviews come from another. Your SEO comes from someone else. Then add social media, paid ads, patient communication, and now AI search. You keep spending more. Can you tell what's working?

Patients find and choose dentists differently now. Google is no longer the only place they start. AI platforms recommend practices before patients ever reach your website. Those recommendations draw on your reviews, listings, website, online authority, and the experiences your patients share.

Len breaks down the six systems that drive visibility, credibility, patient choice, and growth. You see what each one should do, where vendors add value, where services overlap, and where you may be wasting money. Then you learn how to connect them so each one strengthens the next.

You leave knowing what to keep, what to cut, what to fix, and what's missing before you spend another dollar or sign another contract.

FORMAT

2 hours 3 hours

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Identify the six systems that decide whether patients find, trust, and choose your practice
2. Explain how AI search uses reviews, listings, websites, and other sources to recommend practices
3. Evaluate your marketing vendors for gaps, duplication, and wasted spending
4. Connect reviews, local rankings, traditional search, and AI visibility into one growth strategy
5. Identify the website elements that build trust and turn visitors into booked appointments
6. Implement patient experience systems that generate reviews and referrals without relying on your team to remember to ask
7. Measure the metrics that show whether your marketing produces new patients and growth

> "One of the most valuable talks on cutting through the noise of how to market & WIN at setting your practice up for success."

PRESENTATION TOPIC

04 OMG! I Got a Bad Review. What Should I Do?

How to respond to negative reviews and protect your reputation

Every practice gets negative reviews. It doesn't matter how good your care is. The question is how you respond.

Many practice owners make it worse. They overreact. They ignore the review. Some reply in ways that create legal risk. Each of these mistakes can do more damage than the review itself.

In this course, Len shows you how to assess the review, plan your response, and post it the right way. You learn how review sites work, how to build systems that bring in more positive reviews, and how to monitor your reputation with simple tools.

The perfect practice doesn't have perfect reviews. It handles reviews perfectly.

FORMAT

1 hour

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Why your online reputation matters and how it affects profits
2. How Google, Yelp, and other review sites work
3. How to respond to a negative review in a way that builds trust
4. How to build office systems that get patients to leave feedback
5. How to monitor and manage your online reputation with simple tools

> "Great presentation! All the information regarding customer service in the dental office is critical to having a successful business! Loved how he discussed handling negative online reviews."

PRESENTATION TOPIC

Future-Ready Dentistry

How Technology, Innovation, and Team Systems Drive Patient Experience and Practice Growth

Patients judge your practice by more than your clinical work. They judge how easy it is to find you, contact you, trust you, schedule with you, and come back.

Your team needs better systems too. They need tools that help them communicate, stay organized, and give every patient the same experience.

In this course, Len shows how automation, AI, reputation management, patient communication tools, recall systems, and team workflows make a practice more visible, more efficient, and more trusted.

You evaluate your current systems, find the gaps in your patient experience, and leave with practical tools to improve team performance, office culture, and long-term growth.

FORMAT

1 hour

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Identify how technology shapes each step of the patient experience, from search and reviews to scheduling, follow-up, and recall
2. Recognize how automation, AI, reputation management, and data-driven workflows improve team performance and daily operations
3. Explain how visibility, responsiveness, reviews, and trust affect patient decisions and practice growth
4. Evaluate your practice with a future-ready checklist covering patient experience, culture, communication, efficiency, and growth
5. Build a practical plan to use technology for a more efficient, patient-centered practice

PRESENTATION TOPIC

06 Don't Sweat the Small Stuff in Practice Ownership

Focus on what moves your practice forward

Owning a dental practice can be rewarding. It can also feel overwhelming.

Dental school prepares you to deliver clinical care. It doesn't prepare you for everything else. Managing a team. Watching expenses. Handling patient issues. Making marketing decisions. Dealing with constant interruptions. Deciding which problems deserve your attention.

Many owners spend too much time on things that barely matter. They miss the areas that drive growth, profit, and team performance.

Len shares lessons from decades as a dentist, practice owner, and consultant to thousands of practices. You learn to separate distractions from the decisions that move your practice forward. He also covers the situations that cause owners the most stress, including team problems, patient complaints, operational breakdowns, and the inevitable negative review.

The goal is simple. React less. Focus on what matters.

FORMAT

1 hour

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Identify common issues that consume time and create stress but have little impact on performance
2. Recognize the areas of ownership that deserve the doctor's attention and drive growth, profit, and team performance
3. Apply practical strategies to delegate, prioritize, and step back from day-to-day problems
4. Develop a better approach to stressful team, patient, and operational situations
5. Implement simple changes that improve efficiency, patient experience, and performance
6. Create a plan to respond to negative online reviews without letting them disrupt the practice

> "Eye-opening. This is what young dentists, or any dentists needs to hear. We focus so much on clinical dentistry that we forget that there are many other factors that make a practice flourish. I would highly recommend him."

WHAT ATTENDEES SAY ABOUT SUPERCHARGE

"This is my third year in a row at Supercharge. Every year is better than the one before. The first year was just me. Last year it was me and my office manager. This year I took my office manager, assistant, and associate dentist. Supercharge is unlike any other meeting I've attended, and believe me, I've been to a lot of them over my 20-year career. I don't think it's a stretch to say that on some level you guys are saving practices, families, and possibly even lives."
